What Consumers are Saying

Consumers today are more educated and aware of environmental issues than ever before. With this knowledge and awareness comes a greater responsibility and attachment and many are showing their support for the environment in the way they spend their income. Need more proof? Check out these statistics from some recent studies and surveys*:

- 75% of consumers say it's important or very important for companies to provide information about the environmental impacts of their products.
- 53% of consumers prefer to buy from businesses with a green reputation and 80% are concerned about the environment.
- 71% of consumers in North America believe, "It is important that companies take environmentally responsible actions".

With such a clear focus on the environment, can you afford not to promote your environmentally-friendly practices?
